Orion MicroXplore Duo-Scope S400 LED Microscope

I am very satisfied with the quality and performance of this microscope... (I doubt you'll find a better option at this price range, believe me.) Construction is sturdy, and the lenses and mechanics seem to be of good quality. The dual function of this equipment is a fantastic thing to have, as you can observe the objects in two different ways (illuminated from top or bottom), and at 3 different magnifications. While the manual is not as explicit as it could be, most things can be figured out on your own (talking about the accessory kit). I've shown my kids, and neighbor kids, many things already, and they all were very impressed with the detail of the objects they saw. All in all, very happy with the purchase. Thanks guys,

I would recommend this telescope to anyone who loves detailed pictures and science! Amateur or intermediate!

Compares well with more expensive instruments available from other vendors. Build quality is utilitarian but fairly solid. Images are sharp and bright at 40x and 100x. 400x was dimmer, and focus was a little difficult, but it was definitely usable. I was surprised, as the highest magnification achievable on most inexpensive optics is usually for marketing purposes only. The young recipient was very pleased. Please note that glass slides, stains, and a scalpel are included, so don't just hand this to a young child without taking appropriate safety measures.

As always another superior product from Orion! My daughter and I spent several hours Christmas morning with this gem. The optics are outstanding! Very well made! My only complaint is the lack of information regarding the included accessories. I wasn't expecting all the extra "goodies" that were included. I highly recommend this microscope.
